Work Session

The Park Commission serves as an advisory board to the City Council. The Park Commission consists of five appointed members including a chair and co-chair. The terms for commission members, which are staggered, run for three (3) years commencing on March first of each year. The council interviews interested candidates for the commission seats including interested present commissioners whose terms are about to expire.

A vacancy was created due to Park Commissioner Stephany Vassar's recent resignation. The term will expire in February of 2022. Staff has actively recruited interested candidates for the vacancy and the City Council will conduct interviews at the August 24 work session. David Garske was interviewed in February of this year for an open seat on the Park Commission but due to the number of interested candidates was not appointed. In speaking with David, he is still very interested in the open seat on the Park Commission.
